

I WILL WIN!

The die has been cast. I've stepped over the line.
The decision has been done, the destiny's been determined.
I will no longer vacillate. I will no longer vacate.
I will no longer listen to, listen at or listen in on losing.
I will not be defeated, dejected, diluted or detoured.
I will no longer navigate with the needle of negativity.
The direction's been decided, the trail to be tried.
The destiny directed, the future forged.
I will not be pulled on, pulled in, pulled down or pulled out.
I won't back up, back down or back away or back off.
I won't give in, give out or even give way to defeat.
I will no longer meander in the maze of mediocrity.
I will no longer conform to the cancer of can't.
I now will confirm the condition of can.
I will probe the possibilities, pick the probabilities.
I will focus on the fire and heat it even hotter.
I will never give up, let up, set up or shut up on success.
I am reaching for the ring, I am pulling on the power.
I've quit wishing, hoping, wasting and whining.
I will now aggressively gear into the word go.
And I am determined to dare to do till I drop.
I will withstand the whining winds of defeat.
And I will be powerfully persistent, consistent, and insistent to get out of life what I truly deserve.
Because I am willing...I am waiting...I am worthy... and I understand the only defeat is from within.
I now know that beyond any shadow of the cloud of doubt,
There is no shadow... there is no cloud, and there is no doubt...

I WILL WIN!

MY FAVORITE POEM

Every once in a while we discover things that motivate and drive us. The realization of these things create an epiphany in our lives. These things are items of great importance to us. They may be ideas, special moments, or people in our lives. They can be something that you read, or a statement that you heard. Many years ago I heard a poem that absolutely inspired me and continues to even until this day. I have read and re-read this poem so many times that I have the entire poem memorized, and when I need a moment of motivation, I simply replay the poem in my mind. I would like to share this poem. I have attempted to research the poems' originality but couldn't find the true original writer. If anyone knows who wrote this poem, please let me know, but until then, I will ascribe it to an unknown author. The poem is called "I Will Win."

~ Dana Harper